The global Foreign exchange market ('FX' , 'PeepX' or 'PeepX') is the largest market in the world as measured by the daily turnover with more than US$5 trillion a day eclipsing the combined turnover of the world's stock and bond markets. As we all know that trading has large potential rewards, but also large potential risk you must be aware of the risks and be willing to accept them in a global market, currency market.

Continued

Take a look at live investment opportunities on Peep X Trade, and give yourself a feel-good factor that's hard to beat by backing a business you believe in.

Investing in start-ups and early stage businesses involves risks, including illiquidity, lack of dividends, loss of investment and dilution, and it should be done only as part of a diversified portfolio.

PeepX Trading

PeepX Trading, also known as foreign exchange or FX trading, is the conversion of one currency into another. FX is one of the most actively traded markets in the world, with individuals, companies and banks carrying out around $6.6 trillion worth of PeepX transactions every single day.

While a lot of foreign exchange is done for practical purposes, the vast majority of currency conversion is undertaken by PeepX Traders to earn a profit. The amount of currency converted every day can make price movements of some currencies extremely volatile – which is something to be aware of before you start PeepX Trading.

How It Works

PeepX Trading works like any other transaction where you are buying one asset using a currency. In the case of PeepX, the market price tells a trader how much of one currency is required to purchase another. For example, the current market price of the GBP/USD currency pair shows how many US dollars it would take to buy one pound.

Each currency has its own code – which lets traders quickly identify as part of a pair.
